

ROOSEVELT SAYS CAMPAIGN MUST NOT BE STOPPED

Colonel Lauds Manly Statement of Col. W. J. Bryan and Says Let Issues Go on as Before

T. R. INSISTS HE IS LESS THAN ISSUES

Declares Principles Involved in Campaign Are as Vital Now as Before He Was Victim of Bullet

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The campaign of activities should not cease because of Roosevelt's attempted assassination, so far as he is concerned. The following is a statement issued by Colonel Roosevelt today at Mercy hospital in answer to what Bryan said yesterday in a speech at Franklin, Ind.

"I wish to express my cordial agreement with the manly and proper statement of Mr. Bryan, when in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of issues at stake he said:

"Issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin, and neither Colonel Roosevelt or his friends could ask that the discussion be turned away from the principles involved. If he is elected president, it should be because of what he has done in the past, or what he proposes to do hereafter."

"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that discussion be turned away from the principles involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on precisely as if I had been shot. I shall be sorry if Governor Wilson does not keep on the stump, I feel he owes it to himself and to the American people to continue on the stump."

"I wish to make one comment on Colonel Bryan's statement. It is of course perfectly true that in voting for or against me, consideration must be paid to what I have done in the past and what I propose to do. But it seems to me a far more important consideration should be paid to what the progressive party proposes to do."

Believes More in Party

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the fact, upon which we progressively insist, that war against any man in this fight is wholly immaterial compared with the fundamental issues involved, and the triumph of principles for which our cause stands. If I had been killed, the fight would have gone on exactly the same."

"Governor Johnson, Senator Beveridge, Mr. Strauss, Senator Bratton, Miss Jane Adams, Gifford Pinchot, Judge Ben Lindsey, Raymond Robbins, Mr. Prendergast and hundreds of other men are now on the stump preaching doctrine I have been preaching, and stand for and we represent just the same cause, they would continue to fight in exactly the same way if I had been killed, and they are continuing it just the same way, notwithstanding I for a moment am laid up."

Let Old Issues Triumph

"So far as my opponents are concerned whatever could with right and propriety have been said against me and my cause before I was shot, can with equal truth and propriety be said against me now, and it should now be said; things that cannot be said now are merely things that ought to have been said before. This is not a contest about any man; it is a contest concerning principles."

"If my broken ribs heal fast enough to relieve my breathing, I shall hope to make one or two more speeches in the campaign; in any event, if I am not able to make them, those mentioned above and hundreds like them will be stating our case right to the end of the campaign. I trust our opponents will be stating their case also."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Condition Unchanged.

Throughout a day of unbroken calm Col. Roosevelt lay in a bed at Mercy hospital with virtually no variation in his condition. It was a day of waiting, with the ever present possibility of complications, but with lessened fears on the part of those on watch.

Col. Roosevelt appeared to have recovered from the shock of the bullet which for a time drained his vitality, so far as the casual observer could detect he is in a normal condition, but there is no relaxation of the strict regime and the physicians said he is not out of danger.

Might Leave Monday.

Physicians discussing among themselves tonight showed the necessity for the colonel to remain at the hospital. It was thought it might be safe for him to leave for Oyster Bay next Monday or Tuesday, but not even a tentative decision was reached. The clinical records were most encouraging of any day since Col. Roosevelt entered the hospital. During the morning the variation in temperature was limited to two-tenths of a degree and throughout the afternoon it was reported as normal.

Arrests Made on Warrants.

Arrests are being made on the warrants issued upon the indictments and socialists involved declare all those accused will come forth to stand trial for criminal libel and slander.

The names of the socialist committee signing the pamphlet, all of whom are indicted, are O. Erickson, M. J. Fisher, J. W. Ramsley, M. Koerner, F. W. Hale, A. E. Hale and J. Worthen. In addition to this group is T. J. Burns, another man whose name is not known and reported to have been indicted.

At a recent meeting held here by Fred Warren, editor of the Appeal to Reason, he introduced the members of the propaganda committee who issued the pamphlet as heroes who are entitled to the applause of their comrades. MEN BACK OF EL PASO "KEY" VISITS BISBEE

Business Men of Texas Frontier Metropolis Come to Copper City to Extend Acquaintance

PASS CITY BOOSTERS ARE WELL RECEIVED

Southern City Boomers Remain in Cochise County City Long Enough to Hunger for Trade

For two bustling, bustling hours yesterday afternoon, El Paso's latest business men were in Bisbee's midst, and everybody knew they were here, and while Bisbee is geographically the same distance from the Pass City as it was the day before, it is not nearly so far away, commercially speaking.

The special train, composed of seven coaches, arrived here at 1 o'clock, and was sidetracked on the spur track of the Phelps Dodge store. A delegation of business men, members of the Warren District Commercial club and the Business Men's Protective association, was present to give the visitors the glad hand and an invitation to go as far as they liked.

Band Parades Streets

Soon after detrainning, the El Paso boosters, headed by the Twenty-second Infantry band, had started up toward Main street, with a following of local business men. The band stopped at the upper end of Main street, played several selections, then marched back to the Copper Queen plaza.

George Wallace, introduced by J. M. O'Connell, told the purpose of the trade excursion of the El Paso business men through El Paso and New Mexico. He made no attempt at apology, and in business parlance it was El Paso's "line of con" but it was convincingly told, and judging from the applause, it aroused a spirit of friendship for Bisbee's big sister down on the Rio Grande.

Seeking Trade Relations

"We are not after a dollar's worth of your trade that you can place in Bisbee," he said, "but we do ask that when you want what you have not in Bisbee, that you trade with El Paso, and El Paso assures you that the trade relations will be mutually beneficial and pleasant."

In closing, Mr. Wallace presented a silver key which is valued will unlock every place in El Paso, though of course the symbolism is that it is the typified invitation of El Paso to Bisbee to visit the Os-Aple Jubilee and to buy in El Paso what you can't buy at home. The key is four feet long, and is made of white pine from the mills of the Pearson Lumber company at El Paso. The timber from which the key was made was cut from the virgin forests of Madrean Chih. The key was accompanied by Mayor J. S. Wilson on behalf of the city, in a short and appropriate reply.

Speaks of Bright Future

V. R. Siles, introduced by Judge O'Connell as a "professional" evolutionist, spoke enthusiastically of El Paso's future, declaring that it will "grow more in the next five years than in the last twenty." His enthusiasm was of the infectious kind, and soon he had a Bisbee crowd, by his hearty cheering, toasting El Paso's future.

Seizing an opportunity that so conveniently presented itself, Dr. N. C. Bledsoe, district supervisor of the Borderland route of the transcontinental highway, mounted the steps of the Copper Queen general offices and thanked the visitors for the support that El Paso has given to the Borderland route.

There was an intermission in the program, and the Pass City boosters improved the opportunity to get acquainted with the business men of the city and to individually extend to local business men an invitation to visit the Os-Aple Jubilee. Local business men were introduced to visitors of similar business lines, and many acquaintances were made and friendships begun. Many souvenirs of El Paso business houses were distributed.

The Jubilee quartette rendered several selections with band accompaniment, and Parvin White, a member of the quartette, sang a selection from "The Chocolate Soldier." All of the song numbers were warmly applauded.

Band Renders Music

The Twenty-second Infantry band, which accompanies the excursionists, played at intervals of the two hours' stay of the excursionists here, and every selection was applauded. The band is composed of 35 pieces, and is one of the best ever heard here, in fact it is reputed to be the best in the Infantry branch of the army.

The special left Bisbee at 3 o'clock, headed for Naco, where the next stop was made, and thence for Nogales. The excursionists will visit Tucson and thence go northward to Phoenix.

DEMOCRATS HOLD BIGGEST RALLY IN CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Hon. Carl Hayden, Congressman from Arizona, Talks So Sincerely That Hearers with Different Views Are Influenced and Senator Smith and Hon. Wiley Jones Following Addresses Cinches Democratic Arguments

HEARERS SURPRISED AT CONVINCING WORDS GIVEN BY STATE'S SOLONS

The democratic rally held in this city last night must have been gratifying to every democrat who attended, and discouraging to all who are opposing the democratic candidates this year. The Costello lot was the speaking place, there was a large attendance, and the speeches of Hon. Carl Hayden, Senator Mark Smith, and Hon. Wiley E. Jones were all enthusiastically applauded as each recounted the democratic stand on the principal issues of the campaign, and giving assurance of the great victory of the democratic party that is now drawing near. Each of the speakers spoke in deep sorrow and regret of the attempt of the assassin to take the life of Colonel Roosevelt, but claimed that this incident could not be expected to cause democrats to desert from speaking of Roosevelt and his public record, and the contention he has been making in the present campaign.

Speakers Come Early

The speakers arrived nearly an hour late, coming from Nogales and reaching an hour before the time for starting the speaking. They were met at the depot by Chairman M. C. Hankins, of the county central committee, L. F. Vaughn, Sam Briscoe and John Hill, of the local committee, Ex-Mayor Newman, E. A. Torres and other prominent democrats of the city. Hastily getting dinner, the party was escorted to the speaking platform on Main street where had assembled one of the largest audiences that has been brought together during the present campaign. Members of the local committee and Chairman Hankins occupied the platform with the speakers and J. F. McDonald, secretary, was chosen to introduce the speakers.

Hayden Speaks First

Hon. Carl Hayden was the first speaker, and he devoted his entire time to a discussion of his stewardship in congress, and of the measures he had supported and gave his reasons for so doing. The applause received by Mr. Hayden indicated entire approval of his course, and amounts to a guarantee of a splendid majority for returning him again to Washington as congressman from Arizona.

The second speaker was Senator Mark Smith, and he was warmly received by his hearers, many of them being his friends of former years, when, as he said, he reached Arizona, more than thirty years ago. He spoke of the great pleasure it gave him to be again in Bisbee and look into the faces of those who in the past had been so loyal in their support of the democratic party. Mr. Smith's speech was largely devoted to the tariff and to the record of Colonel Roosevelt on the very tariff reforms he is now clamoring for during the seven years of his occupancy of the presidential office.

Joint Statehood Criticized

Hon. Wiley E. Jones, on being introduced, called the attention of the audience to the fact that he was a new kind of candidate in Arizona, as the people of the next state would this year have the first opportunity to cast their ballots for presidential electors, and reminded them that they would not now have this opportunity, had Colonel Roosevelt had his way when he was president. Mr. Jones spoke of the attempt of Roosevelt when he was president, to force the people of Arizona into joint statehood with New Mexico.

Before the speaking began, the Copper Queen band played some excellent music while the crowd was gathering.

Senator Mark Smith addressed with a discourse on the tariff and its evils as applied by the republicans under the present law. He pointed out how the high protective tariff had made the trusts grow and how the cost of living had gone up with the high tariff. He said that the tariff did not protect the labor of this country but did protect the manufacturer who made the money and put it in his pocket. He said that the old republican theory that the foreigner made the tariff had long been exploded and that the people now knew they paid the tariff because the tariff was a tax that came on the clothes we wear, the shoes we wear, and the things we use every day.

"This country doesn't have a cent of revenue," he said, "that does not come out of the pockets of the people just as the revenue to run your city government comes out of the taxes levied and collected by the city. There is absolutely nothing in the theory that the foreigner pays the tax."

He told of the efforts of the last congress to relieve the distressing situation brought on by high protection.

He pointed out that Roosevelt was now saying that the republican party always had been controlled by the big interests and that for years Roosevelt was the leader of the republican party. He also pointed out that Roosevelt was for the G. O. P. platform until he was defeated for nomination at Chicago, and then he changed and adopted an entirely different platform in a few weeks and is now denouncing what he stood for six months ago.

"He is so changeable that no man can follow him and no man can believe in the things that Roosevelt advocates because he will be advocating something different in a short time." Senator Smith paid a high tribute to Woodrow Wilson, saying that he believed he was the equal of any man who had been a candidate for the presidency. "The people will realize in time that Woodrow Wilson is a mighty man and that he has one of the great brains of the age."

Hayden's Good Talk

Carl Hayden was then introduced and he cut his speech down to a short talk. He devoted most of the time he had to telling of the bills for which he voted, but before going into that he talked of the state platform on which he is now a candidate.

"This platform endorses Wilson," he said, "and I most heartily agree with the platform on that particular. I went down to Seagirt and I met Governor Wilson and I want to say that he is a truly great man. He is not an orator but he is one of the most convincing talkers that I ever heard. He is a man who impresses you with what he says and with his
